

Service Delivery Policy

cerbyl.com | Last updated 5 September 2026

Cerbyl supplies digital services only. No physical goods are shipped under the plans described on cerbyl.com.

1. Free account delivery

A free account is activated after required email, phone or identity verification is completed. Some features may require profile setup, permissions or joining a workspace.

2. Paid plan delivery

Paid access is ordinarily activated automatically within a few minutes after our payment provider confirms a successful transaction. The active plan and billing period will appear in your account. A receipt or payment confirmation will be sent to the registered email by Cerbyl or the payment provider.

3. Delays

Bank authentication, risk review, payment-provider downtime, an incomplete payment, or account mismatch may delay activation. If payment was debited but access is not active within 24 hours, email billing@cerbyl.com with the transaction reference and registered email. Never send a card number, CVV, password or OTP.

4. Service access

Digital delivery requires a compatible device, supported browser and internet connection. Availability may be affected by maintenance, third-party infrastructure, legal restrictions or events outside reasonable control. Planned material maintenance will be communicated where practical.

5. Failed delivery

If Cerbyl cannot deliver paid access because of a verified Cerbyl error, we will restore access, extend the paid term, or issue an appropriate refund under the Refund and Cancellation Policy.
